Harborside Medical Education

Harborside Medical Education (HSME), a division of Harborside, is committed to advancing care for people with cancer and improving patient outcomes through professional continuing education (CE) activities in oncology that address practice gaps and promote change in learners' knowledge, competence and performance in both community and academic practice settings.

Learning Objectives

After completing this educational activity, participants should be able to:

1. Discuss mechanisms of action, new indications and clinical data supporting emerging targeted therapies and immunotherapies used in the treatment of advanced/metastatic melanoma, including the impact these unique agents have on patient outcomes
2. Apply new skill sets to guide and manage treatment expectations of patients and their families
3. Formulate strategies to manage and mitigate potential adverse events from targeted therapies and immunotherapies used in the treatment of advanced/metastatic melanoma
4. Discuss the pivotal role and necessary expertise of the advanced practitioner as a leader and key contributor of the collaborative oncology healthcare team treating melanoma.
